Bourbon's Fruit Prospect.

H. F. HILLENMEYER, the Lexington nurseryman, yesterday stated that he believed the cold weather of Friday and Sunday nights had not injured the fruit in Bourbon and Fayette. He says a better outlook for fruit at this date is not remembered.

Turnpike Troubles.

NICHOLAS county tollgate raiders have finished removing the gates from the pikes entering Carlisle. Sunday night about twenty-five raiders removed two gates from the Carlisle and Sharpshurg pike and then passed through Carlisle about ten o'clock going to the Parks Ferry road, where they tore away one gate. The raiders used abusive and threatening language to the gatekeepers but did no personal injury. It is said that the officials of one of the roads knew of the proposed raid but that some of the directors were not in favor of resisting the mob.

The raiders also tore away the Bassett gate on the Maysville & Lexington pike, belonging to Col. W. W. Baldwin, of Maysville.

A dispatch Saturday tells of a raid in Harrison: "Last night the raiders visited the toll gate and house of Thomson Moore, one mile west of Berry, on the Berry and Colemansville turnpike. Both poles were cut down and the house partly upset. The night before the gates west of Colemansville were visited and destroyed. A number of arrests are expected as there is direct evidence against some of the parties. The Fiscal Court took steps this week to secure free pikes, as the proposition carried last November.

A number of farmers in Owen county have been warned by anonymous notices tacked on their barn doors not to set out any tobacco plants this season, and should this warning be disregarded and any tobacco raised the burning of their barns is threatened.

Lawlessness still predominates in Garrard county. A farmer named Hurns had his tobacco bed destroyed Wednesday night and notice left that he could cultivate five acres of tobacco, but not fifteen, which he intended.

Woodford county has added fifteen cents to its tax rate to be used for maintaining free turnpikes.

The Warren County Fiscal Court decided to work the jail prisoners on the county roads.

J. W. MILLER, a wealthy farmer, of Woodford, has been notified by "regulators" to destroy his tobacco beds.

In Fleming Sunday night a double tollgate was torn away, and threats caused a special collector on the Mt. Sterling pike to throw open his gate. Thirty-six out of fifty-one gates have been removed in Fleming.

Certain portions of Madison are terrorized by raiders. Saturday night they tore down Mrs. Grady's gate for the second time, and visited Director Thos. Cotton's farm and burned his fence, posts and gates. Tollgate keeper Jas. Layton, who was shot last week, was notified to move or be hanged. He moved with his family Sunday. Fears of being burned out has caused much new insurance to be taken out.

The grand jury is in session at Richmond.

Burned To Death In a Cabin.

SUNDAY afternoon the family of Dan Hart, colored, went out visiting and left Julia Ann Johnson, Hart's mother-in-law, alone in their home in Ruckerville. About five o'clock the house caught fire and the old woman, being too feeble from age and rheumatism to escape, burned to death before she could be rescued. Her body was burned to a crisp and the house was totally destroyed. It is supposed that the fire was started by a spark from the old woman's pipe as several fires have started there from the same cause.

An alarm was sent in from box 13 but the fire had gained such headway before the alarm came in that the fire department could do but little service.

Fatally Cut His Wife.

SANFORD FISHER a Ruckerville bully, went home Saturday night drunk and quarrelsome and had a fight with his wife and dealt her dangerous wounds in the breast with a knife. Fisher was arrested Sunday and landed in jail by Constable Joe Williams.

Sam Rice was also arrested for breach of the peace by Constable Williams. Rice's offense was a difficulty with Elmore Hathaway, the latter's wife being the cause of the disturbance.

A New Industry.

THE J. H. Haggard Buggy Company is a new industry that gives employment to labor and merits the patronage of the public. Their workshops and repository are at the corner of Highland Fourth street—lately purchased by Mr. Haggard from John Glenn. Attention is directed to the advertisement on first page of their repair shop, and of the vehicles offered for sale.

THE NEWS is requested to announce that the Mission Band of the Christian Church will give a supper Friday night at the Odd Fellow's Hall. Admission, fifteen cents.
